

1 Corinthians 9:24 - 25

Many people are watching the Olympic Games right now. The Summer Olympics happen every four years. The Olympics is when the world's best athletes represent their country and compete against each other in their sport of choice. These athletes are competing for a medal. Many players have worked to get to this stage to compete in these activities. There is nothing wrong with sports, but Paul reminds us in Corinthians that earthly races receive a crown, but the race that we should be concerned with is finishing this life well. Paul said in 1 Corinthians 9:24 - 25 that runners receive a perishable wreath, but we run a race to receive an imperishable wreath. You may not be in the 400m race, swimming competition, fencing, triathlon, or any other sport, but you are running a race for Jesus. Let's finish well, friends. Keep your eyes on Jesus.

In Him,
Bro. Justin Anderson
